>"Are we there yet?" Dagur asked impatiently.

"Almost there." Gostav insisted.

"Finally." Dagur sighed. Then, with quick moves Gostav shun the light of the dragon eye into Dagurs eyes. He screamed as the light caused spots to appear. "Ah! bright light!" He exclaimed blinking multiple times. "Where are you?" he asked annoyed. the boy and Dragon had gone. Then He saw the light of the dragon eye from behind a rock. He grinned evily. He ran around the rock. "Gotcha!"

"No I believe we've got you." Dagur turned to see Hiccup on top toothless with fanghook beside them. "Good job Gustav." Hiccup said to the teen. The boy shrugged. Dagur grabbed the eye and Gustav made a run for Fanghook. "Give up Dagur." Hiccup glared.

"I have the dragon eye!" Dagur smirked. Hiccup had toothless blast the ground in front of Dagurs feet. the ground broke revealing what seemed like a bottom floor of the cave. Dagur backed up.

"That looks like a long drop." Dagur commented.

"There's no where to go Dagur! Give me the eye." Hiccup demanded. He had toothless shoot the ground again as Dagur moved.

"Oh really?" Dagur dropped the eye in the hole.

"No!" Gustav jumped in after it.

"Gostav, no!" Toothless jumped in after the teen.

"Come here. Gotcha!" Gustav got the dragon eye and flipped around. "Hiccup!" He screamed as he fell.

"Coming!" He grabbed Gustavs leg but a big rock hit toothless, catching him off balance. Hiccup lost grip and he and Gustav were free falling. "Toothless!" He yelled. "Bud!" He straightened himself so he could fall faster to catch up with his dragon. they were about to touch when a rock, almost at the same speed as an arrow, hit Hiccups head. He was out cold instantly. Toothless roared and tried to grab his rider. They hit the ground with a bang. Gustav was about to hit the floor when Fanghook caught him.

"Hiccup!" Gustav yelled as the nightmare landed. He ran to toothless and the dragon parted his wings. Gustav gasped. Hiccup had blood trickling down his forehead and his arm didn't look so good. "Oh No-no-no-no-no!" He shook the dragon rider leader. "Wake up!" Hiccup didn't respond. Gustav looked up. "We have to fly out of here." He started running for Fanghook when it hit him. "And you can't fly without Hiccup." He said to toothless. He groaned. "What are we gonna do-" He stopped when he heard a moan. "Hiccup." He raced over and skidded to Hiccups side.

"Owe." He said.

"Oh thank thor your alive." Gustav said in relief. Hicccup sat up and held his arm. It was literally turned around.

"Gustav. Stay calm I have to turn my arm back around." Hiccup told the worried kid. Gustav nodded and braced himself. Hiccup took a shaky breath before quickly grabbing his arm and turning it. He screamed in pain but was only half way done. Toothless watched with worry. He screamed again as he finished turning his arm. He clenched his teeth and held onto Gustavs hand with his good hand so hard Gustav felt like his hand was gonna break. Up above Dagur heard the screams of pain and smirked before leaving the cave and headed for his ships.

>"Where is he, he should be back by now." Astrid said looking out to sea.

"Maybe dagur did something, and their in trouble!" Fishlegs started getting hard to breath.

"Or maybe they are kicking his butt." Snotlout joked from his spot laying on the ground.

"Oh man, I wanna see that." Ruffnut complained.

"Yeah!" her brother agreed. They smacked together with their helmets.

"Guys maybe Fishlegs is right, maybe they are in trouble." Astrid said running to Stormfly. "Tuffnut, you and snotlout stay here and gaurd the island and make sure they might come back." Astrid ordered.

"And us?" Fishlegs asked.

"We have to go look." Astrid said.

"I was afraid you'd say that." Fishlegs sighed.

>Hiccup looked around, they were really far down. His prosthetic was as good as scrap medal, so flying out was out of the question. That's when he saw the box.

"Hey, Gustav, you go that way and see if you can find anything." Hiccup said pointing the opposite direction.

"Sure thing Hiccup." He said.

"Shout if you find anything!" He yelled to the boy. After watching him go Hiccup, with the help of toothless, walked up to the box. When he opened it he gasped. "Is this-" he picked it up and examined it. "It is!" He showed it to toothless. "Another lens for the dragon eye." He opened his satchel on the sadel and put it in. He looked over to where he woke and spotted the dragon eye. after putting it in the sachel too, He took out the sling for emergency use only. This was an emergency alright. After a one handed struggle he got arm in the sling and he jumped on toothless.

"Hiccup!" They heard Gustav yell.

"He must have found something, Let's go!" Toothless bounded down the tunnel where the voice came from. When they found the boy He had indeed found something. "Lava?" Hiccup said.

"I know." Gustav said.

"Ok, this is no use for us. let's go the other way." Hiccup said. Gustav nodded and jumped on fanghook. The two dragons ran with their riders to the other side. That's when Gustav caught site of the box.

"Hey wait." He stopped his dragon and jumped off.

"I checked that there was nothing in it." Hiccup insisted. He opened it anyway and found nothing.

"Awe man. I was hoping there would be treasure." He said jumping back on FangHook.

"I hear something on this end. Let's follow it." Hiccup said patting toothless to keep going. "Gustav."

"Yeah Hiccup?"

"I think you should go and get the others while I look." Gustav gave him a look.

"But what if something happens and your hurt even more?" The teen tried to argue.

"I'll be fine, I have Toothless. Go. If there is nowhere out of here it would be best if they can help get us out." Hiccup said. Gustav couldn't ignore that logic.

"Ok. Just don't die." Gustav continued.

"I can't keep any promises." Hiccup smirked. The kid gave Hiccup a look before ordering FangHook to take off. Hiccup laughed. "He will make a good member of the team. Someday."

2. Chapter 2

I may or may not, have inspiration to write a story about "Reign of fireworms." I may. I may not. We shall see in the near future.

>Toothless walked slowly through the cave, It had gotten darker and darker so toothless had to use his sound thing to lead them.

"Toothless." Hiccup said through the darkness. "Rest for a while." In reply the dragon plopped to the ground. Hiccup was as tired as Toothless. His eyelids wouldn't stay open. He had touched his head not long ago and had felt the drying blood and the bump. He soon lost his grip on consciousness and slipped into a deep sleep.

"Ah!" Hiccup screamed in pain as he was forced into the real world. He must have fallen off of his sleeping dragon and onto his broken arm. It was burning like crazy. Toothless jolted upright and was around Hiccup in a flash. Hiccup hissed in pain. "I need to get this arm in a splint as soon as possible. otherwise it might mend in an odd way." Hiccup explained. He remembered when He broke his finger. He had slammed it into the wooden chest he was seating on and He thought it was only battered and just put ice on it. a week or so later he noticed his finger had a curve when he looked at it at eye level at the top joint. that's when he reliesed it had broke and not being put in a mini splint, made it mend slightly bent. To this day when he looked at his left hands index finger he saw an abnormal look to it. But he has freaked Snotlout out a couple times with it by bending the top of his finger more then it was. Toothless coed in understanding. The pain soon turned into a stinging burn. when it did, Hiccup clambered back on to toothless. Toothless roared into the darkness then conitinued.

>"Astrid! Fishlegs!" Gustav was relieved when he saw the oh so familiar Deadly Natter and Gronkle coming towards him.

"Gustav!" Astrid was also relieved. but the relief vanished when She didn't see Hiccup and toothless. "Where is Hiccup?" She demanded over the wind.

"Do you still have the Dragon eye?" Fishlegs added.

"Hiccup is hurt! his fake leg is broken so he can't fly toothless!" Astrid shared a look with fishlegs.

"What are we waiting for, lead the way!" Ruffnut yelled from her spot behind Fishlegs. Gustav nodded and turned FangHook. He lead them to the island.

"No." Astrid gasped.

"We have to find him before those dragons do!" Fishlegs said as they landed and raced after Gustav into the cave.

"Down there." Gustav pointed into the pit.

"Hiccup!" Astrid yelled down. No answer. "Hiccup! Toothless!" When her voice just echoed through She looked at the gap. "Stormfly is too big and so his Meatlug. FangHook is slim enough to get through."

"That's just the opening. it gets wider going down." Gustav said.

"Ok. Stormfly, fire!" Stormfly Blew fire at some loose looking rocks and they crumpled and fell. sure enough, the opening was now big enough for all three dragons. They mounted again and went through.

>Hiccup was woken by the sound of toothless blast at something. He didn't remember falling back asleep.

"To-Toothless?" He yawned. Toothless blasted at the darkness again. "Toothless what's happening?" He asked. The nightfury ignored Him and blasted again. then what seemed to be a wall, crumpled down and Hiccup was temporally blinded by bright light. "yes, Good find toothless!" Toothless made an almost proud sound before walking through. The sight before them was beautiful. "Wow." Hiccup whistled. A waterfall splashed and the sun was shining through holes in different places there was bright green grass and flowers Hiccup had never seen before. What really caught his eye was a huge white flower in the middle of this - Cove - and it almost glowed. Toothless slowly went up to it and Hiccup touched a pettle.

"It feels like silk." He commented. He went to try and push down the pettles to see the center. When something jumped out and grabbed his arm. "Ah!" Hiccup screams as it dug it's teeth into his arm. Then he noticed it wasn't a dragon or animal. it was the flower itself. Hiccup pulled his arm and ended up ripping his sleeve. Blood was starting to come out of the cuts from the teeth.

"Hiccup!" Hiccup heard Astrids voice. Three dragons and four riders ran into the cove place. They froze and looked at it's beauty. Toothless ran from the flower.

"Woe." Ruffnut said.

"This is beautiful." Astrid said, also in awe. Gustav was the one to snap out of it first.

"Hiccup your arm! I mean, Your other arm." Astrid looked away from the site and ran to Hiccup.

"What happened?" She asked.

"I've never seen a dragon bite like it." Fishlegs commented.

"It wasn't a dragon." Hiccup said.

"What was it?" Fishlegs was getting curious.

"Gustav, no!" Hiccup yelled. the said teen was about to touch the giant flower. But it was too late. He touched it and the long neck like thing snapped out with it's fangs ready to bite. Gustav ran away.

"THAT bit you!?" Astrid said. it had gone into hiding.

"that reminds me of the fly trap." Fishlegs said.

"It's more of a human trap." Astrid stared at it.

"Or a dragon trap." Fishlegs corrected.

"Let's get out of here." Hiccup said. "I don't feel like it want's us in it's cove." Astrid nodded and helped Hiccup on to Stormfly. FangHook took to the air and Both Natter and Nightmare picked up the downed Nightfury. "You Okay down there bud?" Hiccup yelled down. He cooed in responce. Hiccup's right arm was numb and now his left arm was stinging. "I feel like a speed stinger stung me and only my arms were affected." Hiccup joked. Astrid laughed.

"at least you didn't lose your memory." Astrid said. She had noticed his head first.

"Wait, Who are you?" Hiccup said smirking from behind her.

"If I was behind you I would punch you." She sighed. When they got back to Dragons edge and got Hiccup mended Gustav was gonna leave.

"Look. I know, you don't want me. I can deal." He said sadly.

"Gustav. You may be inmature, outrageous and uncontrolable at times. but you will make a pretty good member of the team someday." Hiccup said. He had a white cloth around both arms and he felt rather silly but all was well.

"Someday?" Gustav said. "I'll take someday." FangHook flew into the air and they headed away.

"Guys, I forgot." Hiccup reached into his satchel and took out the lens.

"A lens for the Dragon eye!" Fishlegs jumped up and down excited.

"Looks like a treasure was on that island after all. We just didn't look hard enough. If it wasn't for Gustav we would have never found it."

"Let's not tell Gustav." Astrid said. They all laughed and waved to the teen as he dissapeared.
